

When Working People Are Under Attack, What Do We Do?

From Wisconsin to Pennsylvania, corporations and the right wing are doing everything they can to blame the recession they started on unions and working families.

But the truth is, corporations made record profits totalling $1.2 Trillion last year and many of them - like the gas companies drilling in our state - aren't paying their fair share in taxes.

Instead of making them pay and help fix our economy, politicians like Governor Tom Corbett are saying that we have to cut education, health care and other public services that we depend on.

Join us on April 4th and send a message to the gas companies and Gov. Corbett that its time for corporations to pay their fair share.

Stand Up, Fight Back!
